Welcome to Flagstaff, Arizona

Flagstaff is located in the mountains of northern Arizona, and is the destination for all seasons and all types of adventurers. Depending on the time of year and your calling for outdoor adventure, your experiences could include world-class downhill skiing, hundreds of miles of scenic trails for hiking, outdoor festivals from June to October, magnificent fall colors, or a gaze at the stars—as Flagstaff is the first designated international dark sky city. Flagstaff is the best of both worlds; after a day of exploring the many nearby national monuments and Grand Canyon National Park, enjoy a vibrant city at night. Enjoy one-of-a-kind local shops, art galleries, dining and seven award-winning craft breweries in a historic downtown setting.

For the history buffs, 2018 will kick off our one year celebration of the first Moon landing. Much of the lunar mapping for the Apollo missions and training for the famed NASA astronauts happened right here in Flagstaff. There will be celebrations, suggested itineraries, and activities beginning July 20, 2018 through July 20, 2019—the actual date marking the 50th anniversary of this historic leap for mankind. Want to know more about Flagstaff and must-see attractions? Our trained information specialists can answer your questions, make recommendations, offer directions, provide free maps and suggest itineraries. For added convenience, Grand Canyon National Park and Red Rock State Park Passes as well as local bus passes may be purchased at the Visitor Center. Flagstaff-centric, Route 66 and train-themed souvenirs are available in the gift shop, and don't miss the Route 66 street mural in the Visitor Center parking lot.

Historic Train Station

Flagstaff Visitor Center is located in the historic downtown train station along the world-renowned Route 66. Train experiences abound as Amtrak and freight trains pass by nearly 100 times daily. Marvel at the model train replica of the town’s "Old Two Spot" and delight in the coin-operated journey around the train station. A brief walk leads to Two Spot, an authentic Baldwin locomotive. Two Spot is retired and displayed on a track ideal for photo opportunities.
Weather in the High Country
Climate & Comfort

Tips for High Altitude

At high altitude, the sun is more intense and it is possible to experience fatigue and shortness of breath. Drink plenty of water, rest often, apply sunscreen and wear sunglasses and a hat, even on cool days. When packing, plan to wear layered clothing, as the temperature and weather can change quickly at 7,000 feet.

Layer for Optimal Comfort

Spring/Summer
(April-August)
- shorts or light pants
- short and long sleeve shirts
- light jacket, sweatshirt or hoodie
- summer hat
- rain gear during monsoon season (July-August)
- comfortable shoes or boots

Winter
(November-March)
- heavy pants or jeans
- long sleeve thermal shirts for layering
- warm sweater, sweatshirt or fleece jacket
- winter coat, hat, gloves and a scarf
- waterproof winter boots and heavy socks

Fall
(September-October)
- long pants or jeans
- long sleeve shirts
- warm sweater, fleece, jacket or windbreaker
- warm shoes or boots
- hat and gloves for evenings

Year-Round
- layered clothing appropriate for the season
- sunscreen and sunglasses

Native Cultures

The Navajo Nation
Located primarily in Arizona, Utah, and New Mexico, the Navajo people reside on the Navajo Nation which covers 27,425 square miles of Native American governed lands. The Dine’, as they call themselves, continue to reflect a rich cultural heritage of language and beliefs. Recognized throughout the world, Navajo traditional ceremonial arts and crafts include intricate silver and turquoise jewelry, pottery, sandpaintings, woven baskets and weavings.

The Hopi Tribe
Descendants of the Anasazi, the Hopi people trace their history back thousands of years. They reside in villages on the 2,532 square-mile Hopi Reservation in northeastern Arizona. Hopi is translated to mean “peaceful person”, which is reflected in their intense spirituality and ethics of goodwill. Hopi traditional ceremonial arts and crafts include pottery, woven baskets, weavings, and wood carvings of divine beings known as Hopi Katsintithu, or katsina dolls.

Learn more about the Native cultures of Northern Arizona by visiting the Museum of Northern Arizona. See listing under Area Attractions, page 14.

Flagstaff’s Brew Culture

Nothing pairs better with crisp mountain air and high country views than a cold brew. Designated as Arizona’s Craft Beer City, the town boasts seven craft breweries that invite visitors to revel in this frothy tradition.

Visit the website for camping guidelines, designated campground information, fire restrictions, motor vehicle use maps and other resources. Responsible enjoyment of the forest helps minimize impacts, maintains the health of the forest and its wildlife, prevents wildfires caused by abandoned campfires, and protects archaeological and historic sites. Enjoy all the National Forest has to offer but remember to Leave No Trace.

Fall Color Drives

Flagstaff LEAF-ometer

Find the best Fall color viewing in northern Arizona at flagstaffarizona.org

Leaf peepers will rejoice in exploring the scenic drives in and around Flagstaff that highlight the golden aspens and red hues of oak trees. Take the most scenic route to the Grand Canyon and enjoy winding through old growth aspen stands, or head up the Snowbowl Road to enjoy not only a drive through the changing leaves, but amazing 360° views. Late in the season, take a trip south through scenic Oak Creek Canyon.

The 5 best drives for Fall colors:

- Scenic Highway 180
- Scenic Oak Creek Canyon, Highway 89A
- Hart Prairie - FS 151 Loop
- Snowbowl Road off Highway 180
- Lockett Meadow - FS 552

Favorite Hikes

Coconino National Forest

Supervisor’s Office | 1824 S. Thompson St.
Flagstaff, AZ | 928.527.3600 | fs.usda.gov/coconino

Flagstaff is a hiker’s paradise with trails available for all skill levels. When exploring the backcountry, remember to bring plenty of water, snacks, a trail map, sunscreen, wear layered clothing, a hat and comfortable shoes. It’s also a good idea to let someone know where you are going and when you plan to return. Be safe and have fun!

Easy Hikes

- Veit Springs
- Lava Flow Trail
- Anderson Mesa
- Buffalo Park Loop
- Griffith Spring
- Red Mountain
- Slate Mountain
